

A primary care physician (PCP) provides or coordinates a range of healthcare services for you and helps manage your day-to-day health needs. A long-term relationship with a PCP keeps you healthier and may reduce your medical costs over time.
